Lamont Has Decided That Miles Shall Command Our Army-Turning the Garden Hose on a Count-Bi-metallism in New York.

[COPYRIGHT, 1995.] For a number of months past preparations have been making in New York to have an unusually elaborate eelebration of the Fourth of July in London. It may seem rather odd that the American metropolis should be the scene of prepara-tion for a cele-bration in the

FOR LONDON'S FOURTH it is even so. Ambassador Bayard is very anxions, it ms, for the affair to be quite impo ing, and he has a peculiar reason for this. It will be remembered that his remarks at a recent London dinner were most unfavorably compared with those of his brother ambassador in France, and said to be lacking in true Americanism. These criticisms hurt Mr. Bayard greatly, for he is sensitive on the subject of his patriotism. His friendly remarks concerning the British have, as is well known, been construed into a tendency to snobbishness, and only the obligations of his position restrained him from replying to his de-tractors with spirit. There was one thing he could do.

however, and the approach of the na-tion's birthday gave him his opportu-mity. Mr. Bayard determined to cele-brate the Fourth with unexampled brilliancy, and to profit by the occasion by making a ringing speech calculated to silence once for all the voice of slan-der. He immediately placed himself in correspondence with all the most prom-iment Americans he could reach, and whom he knew to have in contemplation a sojourn in London during the week which includes July 4. His efforts have proved uniformly successful. Al-ready it is announced that among the guests in London for the grand Indendence day dinner will be Chaunce M. Depew, Seth Low, Wayne MacVengh, ambassador to Italy, and numerous others equally prominent. The Ameri-can society, just formed in England through Mr. Bayard's efforts, is giving hearty aid to the scheme. Fireworks will be an after-dinner feature, and Mr. Bayard will make the speech of the

An extraordinary degree of interest has been aroused by the knowledge of the efforts Mr. Bayard is making for this occasion. It seems that he has even forwarded to New York to Amer-icans in sympathy with him rough drafts of his speech, and even Mr. Cleveland has seen these notes and ap-

Croker's Letters. Richard Croker is constantly in correspondence with the Tammany leaders here, and the rumors that he respondence with the Tammany leader here, and the rumors that he will lead the Wigwam's fight this fall have much more in them than the boss admits. For one thing, the breach between the big men in the organization is being healed, thanks to Wilis being healed, thanks to Wil-

Nay, it appears that Croker will make a decided departure for him, and actually address the mass meetings next entumn. All the Tammany men have been imbued with the idea that their chance to recover lost prestige is in winning the elections in No-wember, and every effort is to be made with that end in view. This is why the reformers are already in the field. There is no such thing as overconfidence in their ranks. Mayor Strong has been very adroit in managing the Platt interests, and Platt himself has been equally careful in refraining from overt acts of hostility. Indeed, the dif-ferences of opinion between Platt and the reformers have been much misunderstood. Gov. Morton has all along been eager to bury differences, and, thanks to his diplomacy, matters have been very much smoothed over. The governor has asserted not merely his independence of Platt, but his inde-pendence of Strong and his supporters. Mr. Morton acts solely as he thinks best, regardless of any factional views. He will be no man's man, not even a reformer's man. Tammany, therefore, in no way binds Stacif to the situation. It is not counting upon divisions in the enemy's camp, but upon harmony in its own, and there can be no doubt that it is getting har

the Quaker city. His visit to Paris and London, as is generally known, is to inspect this year's salons and the Royal academy exhibition in his capacity as managing director of the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts. He was form in Philadelphia in 1856 and resisted his characters in the city of the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts. ceived his education in that city. early devoted himself to the study of literature and the fine arts, and was one of a coterie of young men engaged in business occupations who kept the literary lamp aflame in the Quaker City during a long period of indifference to art and letters. Morris' first book was a volume of poems which he and the late John A. Henry published together. Others of the group mentioned were the late Charles Henry Linday Executions. Linden, Francis Howard Williams, and more recently Owen Winter. Some of the young men organized the Pegasus club of Philadelphia, which has held monthly meetings for several years, at which the members read their latest contributions in the line of poetry and receive criticism thereon.

About three years ago Morris was called from a business position to the managing directorship of the acaden managing directorship of the academy at Philadelphia, and under his sway the institution has gained a new im-pulse. Just before he sailed his engage-ment was announced to Miss Anna Wharton, daughter of Joseph Wharton, the Quaker City financial magnate, whose name is familiar to admirers of successful men in this country and Europe. Miss Wharton is a girl of deep culture and refinement, of great personal charm and a leader in literary and artistic circles.

The other members of the president's official family have much reason to omeiat family have much reason to complain that they are little more than executive clerks, but the holder of the portfolio of war has never had occasion to think anything of the sort. There had been some talk of Gen. Ruger be-ing made Schofield's successor, but that will be in controlled. will be in spite of Lamont if it is done. The army officers stationed in New York are said to have used great influence with Lamont to bring about this result. Besides, Miles is a scientist in war. Ruger is more of an old-fushioned fighter. The difference between the tree man in the tree two men is indicated by their varying notions of what the goddess of war is like. To Ruger she is the typical Bellona. Miles would have her an Electra, calm and unpanoplied, holding aloft the current with which her future victories will be won. great soldiers believe that electrical will play as important a part in the arts of war before long as she now plays in the arts of peace.

Never have the New Yorkers with nomes in Newport been so badg ered by pecunious titled foreigners as they are this season. The metropolis by the sea is liter-ally alive with thom, and these men appear to necessary to an acquaintance. This fact explains why a certain count—he claims to be a count—was treated to a douche of cold water from a garden hose at Newport lately, to the edification of all beholders. The news that quite a batch of foreign counts will shortly visit Newport is creating dread among the cottagers. These counts have been introduced casually to Americans abroad and they have a habit of turning up in this country and staying on indefinitely when invited anywhere. One count, who was asked to stay in the house of a rich American over night at Newport, stayed three weeks. There was simply no way of getting rid of him. The tip has been passed around in Neveport to beware of asking any count to stay in the house over night. More-over, quite a demand for garden hose has arisen in the town.

The aspect of things is deemed so serious that a sound money mass meeting is to be planned along the lines of the great gathering in Philadelphia. Much disgust has been expressed in Philadelphia, Chicago and other of our largest cities because New York sits idly down and expects to do none of the hard work in the interest of sound money. This feeling is admitted to be well founded, and that is why the campaign is to be transferred to New campaign is to be transferred to Ne York for awhile. David Wecuster.

Apply to the burned parts a thick coating of white vaseline, which let remain for ten minutes or more; then rub it off by applying a soft dry cloth gently. Have a bowl of very het water brought to you and a big linen towel. Dip the towel in the water, which must be hot enough to steam, and almost bury your face in it, but do not touch the skin with it for some time. You should steam your face this way for 15 minutes, and by that time every drop of blood in your body will seem to be in your face. Then call for more hot water and apply it in soft, gentle fashion to the skin for 15 minutes. Then put on a coating of vaseline and lie down for half an hour. When you get up, you will be as fresh as a daisy and your face will not trouble you in the least.
